1938

William O. McCutcheon, son Robert and daughter-in-law Helen purchased a used apple press for $25.00. They began simply by custom pressing apples for local farmers. As the years passed they began custom boiling apples into apple butter using the local farmer's recipes.

1950's

McCutcheon's began producing Apple Cider and Apple Butter under their own label and began selling their products to other vendors in the area and in a small retail store attached to the factory in Frederick, Maryland.

1960's

Robert and Helen's children were enlisted to help with the business whenever they were free from school. During the 1960's Robert J. McCutcheon Jr. and his brother William J. McCutcheon began to increase the number of products that McCutcheon's produced such as Strawberry, Blueberry and Peach Preserves.

1993

McCutcheon's constructed a new facility on the original site in downtown Frederick, MD. The company's manufacturing operations remains there today, and has grown significantly to include expanded product lines and even solar powered facilities.

Today

The product line has grown substantially over the years and McCutcheon's now offers well over 300 products, including fruit butters, preserves and spreads, relishes, pickles, sauces, honey, ciders, juice blends and other drinks. Today, McCutcheon's has over 30 full-time employees, including 15 family members from the 4th and 5th generations.

Bringing you that world-famous McCutcheon's homestyle taste and quality that customers all across the world have come to enjoy!
